10 Teaching Tips for Language Learners

Tricia Gallagher-Geurtsen, Ed.D.

- Tip 1: Learning Log- students have a dedicated notebook or folder for recording the date and 1-3 most important things they learned that day.
- Tip 2: After reading a story students make a visual map of the storya sketch for the beginning, middle, and end or more for each important scene.
- Tip 3: Before study of a new topic students write what they know on a post-it & put on wall. After studying topic agree/disagree with post-its.
- Tip 4: Student dictates a sentence to you about their life/what they read; cut it into words, mix, and student rearranges in correct order.
- Tip 5: Make a dialogue journal between teacher and student or an ESL student & native English speaker. Give a daily topic or question.
- Tip 6: Using a topic students know, create some text about it with words missing. Helps with prediction and you assess comprehension level
- Tip 7: At the beginning of class students review current weather and tomorrow's forecast to practice present and future tense and conversation.
- Tip 8: When modeling writing, reading, a science experiment, etc., think aloud. Talk out-loud about your thought process so students know it.
- Tip 9: Select important ideas or concepts in the text about to be read. Discuss and list predictions, read, and verify or refute predictions.
- Tip 10: Make cards with content vocabulary and descriptive words. Use 2 string circles to make a Venn Diagram and have groups talk and arrange words.

10 Teaching Tips for Language Learners

Tricia Gallagher-Geurtsen, Ed.D.

- Tip 1: Learning Log- students have a dedicated notebook or folder for recording the date and 1-3 most important things they learned that day.
- Tip 2: After reading a story students make a visual map of the story-a sketch for the beginning, middle, and end or more for each important scene.
- Tip 3: Before study of a new topic students write what they know on a post-it & put on wall. After studying topic agree/disagree with post-its.
- Tip 4: Student dictates a sentence to you about their life/what they read; cut it into words, mix, and student rearranges in correct order.
- Tip 5: Make a dialogue journal between teacher and student or an ESL student & native English speaker. Give a daily topic or question.
- Tip 6: Using a topic students know, create some text about it with words missing. Helps with prediction and you assess comprehension level.
- Tip 7: At the beginning of class students review current weather and tomorrow's forecast to practice present and future tense and conversation.
- Tip 8: When modeling writing, reading, a science experiment, etc., think aloud. Talk out-loud about your thought process so students know it.
- Tip 9: Select important ideas or concepts in the text about to be read. Discuss and list predictions, read, and verify or refute predictions.
- Tip 10: Make cards with content vocabulary and descriptive words. Use 2 string circles to make a Venn Diagram and have groups talk and arrange words.